

Executive Director Survival Series

SESSION LIMITED TO 20 PARTICIPANTS

Budgets: Economic Environment Adaptations

Prolonged financial pressure on nonprofits is creating the need for leaders to re-evaluate budgets. In this session, leaders will discuss the decisions that have to be made regarding services provided, new funding sources, collaborations, partnerships, assessing programs and needs, and more.

Should programs be eliminated, or performed more efficiently via collaborations? Can we replace lost government funding and decreased donations through some other approach? How, or can we even, provide the desired results given the limited resources?

With the state of the economy, it is important that the ultimate mission and goals of an organization is well defined in the actions taken in operations as well as the use of resources.
